TOMMASO SPAZIANI

HISTORY

Born into a family of doctors, Tommaso Spaziani traces his passion for viticulture and the countryside back to his grandparents. This deep-rooted interest led him to study oenology at the University of Tuscia and to conduct his first personal experiments in the small plot in front of his home. In 2016, after gaining the necessary experience, he founded the winery, which now spans 5 hectares on the slopes of the Lepini Mountains between Sgurgola and Anagni. The estate is located in the Casale di Villamagna area, once the residence of the Roman Emperor Marcus Aurelius, where winemaking traditions were already established in ancient times.

DIVI TECH SHEET

If this product were a color, what color would it be?

Golden Yellow. Rich, luminous, and regal; the color of ripe wheat turning brilliant under a summer sunbeam, just like our wine, with its delicate golden highlights.

If this product were a book, what would it be?

Metamorphoses by Ovid. A classic epic-mythological poem centered on the theme of transformation. Bellone is indeed a white wine that promises surprises over time, left to age, it grows stronger and more complex, revealing aromas of honey and dried fruit. Like Ovid's stories, this wine changes shape and grows deeper.

If this product were a song, what would it be?

Così Celeste by Zucchero Fornaciari Because, like the Bellone wine, it conveys a sense of serenity, the joy of a celebration, and the warmth found in the richness of tradition and deep roots, blending into a luminous harmony with modern notes.

If this product were a film, what would it be?

The Gladiator. An epic that celebrates strength and the origins of the land, just as our Bellone does: an ancient grape variety, quite possibly the one Pliny the Elder called the "Uva Pantastica" (Fantastic Grape). Symbols of fortitude and resilience, Gladiator and this wine both carry the weight and glory of their own history.

If this product were a day of the week, what would it be?

Sunday. The quintessential day of rest, yet full of energy and a desire to be outdoors. Bellone is a sunny, versatile wine, ideal for an aperitivo or a lunch among friends steeped in tradition and good food. Its freshness recalls the carefree spirit of a holiday and the excitement for the plans to come in the week ahead.

How would you like this product to make people feel?

Bellone wine should convey the story of the Lazio territory, uniting Rome, the Castelli Romani, the countryside at the foot of the Lepini Mountains, and the coastline stretching beyond them. Through its history, this wine gives those who sip it a sense of minerality, freshness, balance, harmony, and strength.
